

Non-Profits

Non-profits have been a core business for Fineline during our 30 years in business. We understand your unique needs and requirements.

Save Time

For instance, we know you are often short staffed. That's why our full service offerings and dedicated account representatives are so helpful to you. We are an extension of your department and save you time for the many other things you need to do.

Save Money

We know you have to make the most of every dollar spent. Any way that we can help you communicate more effectively with your members and donors means your organization is more successful. And, because we provide our expertise with every project, you save money on things like postal charges and reduce waste with more efficient production and design.

Continuity and Education

And our stability, as a company, means that when you have new staff, we're here to walk them through the process and educate them on the things that keep your communications effective, efficient, and on point. Events like Fineline University are half day educational sessions for our customers, covering topics such as mailing, design, event planning, and many more.
